

REVERSAL OF IMAGING FINDINGS

—The testimony of Christina V.—

October 2025

A year ago in January 2024 after going in for my annual sonogram, I was told that they see an abnormality that they cannot identify without performing a biopsy. The fact that it had vascular flow is what worried them the most. I decided to go in for a second sonogram to see if the original was a misdiagnosis, and they again stated a biopsy was needed because of a high chance of malignancy. My world seemed to have been turned upside down. Having two very young kids and a life ahead of me, I was petrified to say the least.

I came to Saint Nektarios Monastery to venerate the relics and to pray. Father Stephanos also prayed over me with the cross of Saint Nektarios. I then went in for a third opinion with a private imaging center. With that third sonogram, by the grace of God and many prayers, I was told that there was nothing to worry about, and that no biopsy was recommended. I was told to simply book my appointment for next year.

I feel blessed and thankful to God and Saint Nektarios.
